

Bisaya in the US

The Bisaya of Malaysia are located in western Sabah along the northern coast of Brunei Bay. Thousands of Bisaya have come to the United States seeking better lives and opportunities for their children. The Bisaya who have moved to the United States experience huge changes. They first must secure housing and food, which are very different from what they are used to. They must learn English as a second language and the children must enroll in American schools. The newly arrived Bisaya have physical needs like housing and food, which can be met with the help of American believers.

Obstacles

There are no known followers of Christ among the Bisaya in the United States. Their hearts are turned away from the Lord.

Outreach Ideas

As the Bisaya immigrate to the United States, local churches can be intentional in reaching out and sharing the gospel with them.

Prayer Focus

Ask the Lord to send workers to help the Bisaya in their new home. Pray that Bisaya elders and leaders would come to know the savior and lead their families to the Lord. Ask the Lord to raise up a disciple making movement among the Bisaya living in the United States in this decade. Pray that American Bisaya believers would go back to Malaysia to share the gospel with their families and friends.
