

German Jews in Germany

The German Jews were driven out or exterminated in the 1930s and 1940s, but today they are returning to Germany to participate in the vibrant economy. Most of these Jewish people live in urban areas. Jewish parents strongly encourage their children to pursue graduate educations. Jews often find their employment in medicine, law, higher education, science and finance. Jewish scientists win the Nobel Prize many times above their percentage of the general population.

Ministry Obstacles

For centuries, Christianity has been associated with persecution of their people. This is a huge barrier for Jewish people who might otherwise consider the claims of their Messiah.

Outreach Ideas

Jewish people have a deep appreciation for the arts and music. Christ followers can join them in cultural events, showing them the way to their Heavenly Father.

Prayer Focus

The few Messianic Jewish believers can be a cultural and spiritual bridge for this community. Those who love
