

Kabaloan Agta in the Philippines

In the past, Agta people lived in coastal areas of Aurora and Quezon provinces and were lords in their own domain. However, when Filipino homesteaders moved into the area, they were pushed into the mountains and dispersed into small groups. Agta are animists in practice and beliefs, differing individually. They have also adopted some beliefs of their neighbors. They hold to a universal belief in a single god.

Ministry Obstacles

Agta are semi-nomadic. They move from place to place in search of better habitation. They are also divided into six languages. Both of these factors make it difficult to establish a church planting movement among them.

Outreach Ideas

There are opportunities to help Agta in practical ways. They have financial and educational needs and live semi-nomadic lives. Medical, economic, social and spiritual doors may open if people go to them.

Prayer Focus
