

Lak in Russia

The traditional occupations of the Lak are agriculture and animal husbandry. From their homeland in western Russia, Dagestan, the Lak people grow and harvest wheat, olives, grapes, maize, and vegetables in the lands that surround their villages. Starting in the 1990s some of the urban Lak started coming to Jesus, and now there are more than 50 Lak believers.

Ministry Obstacles

Dagestan is extremely difficult for Christian workers to enter, and there is much resistance to the advance of the gospel in this area.

Outreach Ideas

The New Testament books of Mark and Luke were translated. After that, Bible work stalled due to no team leadership available. Outreach to the Lak must include furthering this translation project, so they can have the Bible in their mother tongue.

Prayer Focus

There are very few believers among the Lak. Pray for the Lord to give them strength and courage to share the gospel with their Muslim neighbors. Pray for the few Lak believers to shine as bright lights in
