

Levantine Bedouin in Lebanon

The traditional homeland of the Bedouin Arabs is the Arabian Desert. Some Bedouin groups have migrated into the Negev Desert region of Israel, the West Bank, Gaza, and Lebanon. Among these are the Levantine Bedouins, also known as the Eastern Bedawi Bedouins. Levantine Bedouins are not quite settled, and they are not quite nomadic. In both Lebanon and the West Bank, established governments have bulldozed some of their settlements, sometimes using the excuse that they don't have permits. When that happens, they are left with nowhere to go. The material culture of the Bedouins is limited. Their tents are their main possessions, and animals are very important. Some earn a living by buying and selling sheep and goats.

Ministry Obstacles

Evangelization efforts among the Bedouin are challenging due to the harsh and unsettled nature of their lifestyle. It is very difficult to find workers willing to reach out to Bedouins, especially those who still live nomadic lifestyles.

Outreach Ideas

We need to remember that at one time Muslim missionaries reached them, so they are Islamic to this day. Christ followers can take the true gospel to them if they were willing.
