

Southern Pashtun in the United Kingdom

Pashtun identity is based on heritage (descent from a common ancestor), Islam, the Pashtunwali Code of Honor ("The Way of the Pashtun"), and to some extent, language (Pakhtu or Pashto). Despite a long record of mission work among the Pashtuns; a vibrant, indigenous, disciple-making movement has never taken root in Pakistan or Afghanistan. Thanks to international meddling in Afghanistan, there is a sizeable Pashtun diaspora in the United Kingdom. These Pashtuns have fled two generations of war. Some are well-established in the UK while others arrived in 2021. They are beginning the difficult process of assimilation.
