

Arakh in India

Arakh are an ancient Kshatriya clan, which once ruled large areas of Awadh, an area of the Indian state of Uttar Pradesh that borders western Nepal. Kshatriya are the second highest caste in Hinduism, the descendants of kings, nobles and warriors.

Ministry Obstacles

As Kshatriyas, some Arakh may take pride in their high place in Hinduism.

Outreach Ideas

Today many Arakh work in agriculture and cannot read or write. Since some Arakh are illiterate, the gospel needs to be presented in oral and visual forms as well as printed forms. Films and radio programs are available in Hindi, the main language of the Arakh.

Pray for the Church

No known Christian Church exists among Arakh people today. Pray for the Lord to move among them, paving the way for the gospel to spread far and wide. Pray for laborers to sow God's word to persons and households of peace, which will in turn catalyze movements to Christ
