

Gawli in India

The Gawli live mostly in the state of Karnataka in southern India. They take pride in their belief that they are descended from the Hindu god Krishna (believed to be a cow herder) due to their mutual connection to the dairy industry and the sacred cow. They enjoy an element of prestige from other Hindus. They offer food and drink to Krishna in their worship, never enjoying a personal relationship with the true and loving heavenly Father.

Obstacles

Pride in their position is a hindrance to accepting the truth. There are many resources, including Bibles, audio teaching and the JESUS Film from numerous mission agencies, but they sit unreceived and unused.

Outreach Ideas

This hardened ground must be broken through breakthrough prayer. Then, in the power of the Holy Spirit someone must go, living among the people and demonstrating Christ to earn trust. The internet offers a private way to listen to the gospel as well.

Prayer Focus

Pray for God to raise up those who

🔊 GOW-lee

POPULATION: 21,000

LANGUAGE: Marathi

RELIGION: Hinduism

BIBLE: Complete

STATUS: Unreached

would live among the people and finally be able to use the plethora of scripture resources. Pray for humility to soften hearts and knees to bow to their Creator. Pray that soon Gawli Christ followers would disciple others.

SCRIPTURE Who will not fear, O Lord, and glorify your name? For you alone are holy. All nations will come and worship you, for your righteous acts have been revealed. (Revelation 15:4)

PRAY Make this also your song of praise to the victorious King of kings!