

Javanese in Saudi Arabia

The Javanese are among the largest, most powerful and most highly reached people group in Indonesia. However, the majority of them are Sunni Muslim and they are able to migrate to Saudi Arabia to work. During weddings and circumcision rituals they perform songs of praise to the prophet Mohammed which is compiled in a book called Silawatan. They also perform the kempling, a type of dance giving praise to Allah, during religious occasions.

Ministry Obstacles

The biggest obstacle is that they live in Saudi Arabia, a country that does not tolerate Christianity or any other spiritual belief.

Outreach Ideas

There are Javanese believers from outside of Saudi Arabia who can reach them.

Prayer Focus

Pray for the Lord to send Holy Spirit-driven workers to the Javanese in Saudi Arabia. Pray that while they are in Saudi Arabia the Javanese would find the Islamic religious system
