

Kandu in Bangladesh

Modern Kandu people have left their old profession of parching grain and now work as merchants, moneylenders, shopkeepers and dealers in grain and spices. They have spread over South Asia, including Bangladesh.

Obstacles

Almost all Kandu people are Hindu, even in Muslim Bangladesh. Hindus worship many deities, but their practices are diverse. In general, Hindus are pragmatic in their spiritual beliefs, offering worship to gods in exchange for benefits rather than out of love or devotion. It will be difficult for them to understand giving their devotion to a God who is also their loving father.

Outreach Ideas

The many and diverse occupations of Kandu people can provide opportunities for true followers of the Lord Jesus to introduce themselves and build relationships. They can earn the privilege to speak the truth of the gospel into their spiritually needy lives.
