

Kunbi in India

The Kunbi are landowning farmers. Some are politicians and educated professionals, including engineers and doctors. Traditionally girls did not attend school and boys studied up to the primary level, but this has changed as their community has gained better education.

Ministry Obstacles

The Kunbi fear Christianity as an invading religious system to their families and communities. They need to give Jesus a chance to bless their communities.

Outreach Ideas

Workers need to sow God's word into Kunbi families, healing and strengthening Kunbi households with God's blessing.

Prayer Focus

Pray that the few believers among the Kunbi would grow in sharing and discussing God's word with their families and community. Pray for the entire Kunbi community to be delivered from fear and to embrace God's blessing through his word for
