

Jhinwar (Sikh) in India

The traditional occupations of the Jhinwar have been fishing, boating and carrying water. Others work in agriculture as farmers or day laborers. Urban Jhinwar work in factories and construction while educated Jhinwar work in professions such as teaching, accounting, engineering and government administration.

Obstacles

The Jhinwar embrace Sikhism, which teaches that all people have equal access to God. The Sikh God is formless, without gender and is to be found in everyone. One gets closer to God by living a good life and by practicing charity. Like Hindus, Sikhs believe in reincarnation and the law of karma.

Outreach Ideas

A tiny fraction among the Jhinwar call themselves believers, but the majority need to hear and understand the life-changing message about Jesus Christ. Mission workers could reach out by giving the Jhinwar job skills and better education for the children.
