

Acheron in Sudan

The Acheron people are mostly Muslim, but they have a small Christian minority. They live in southern Sudan where there is a greater Christian population. This tends to be the case in Africa; there are typically more Muslims in the north and more Christians in the south. Acheron is the name of their language as well.

Ministry Obstacles

There is much strife between Christians and Muslims in Sudan. In many cases, it will be difficult for Muslims to give a fair hearing to the gospel.

Outreach Ideas

People are often rejecting Christians, not Christ. Is it possible to take Christ to Acheron speakers without negative elements of foreign cultures? If someone used local musical forms, the gospel message might be well-received.

Prayer Focus

Acheron are on the verge of being considered reached with the gospel. Pray for Christ followers among them to reach their Muslim and animistic neighbors and villages.
