

Chinese Buriat in China

The Buriat in China are relatively recent arrivals, having migrated from Siberia to Inner Mongolia in 1917. They inhabit grasslands in China's Inner Mongolia Autonomous Region. This remote area is located where the three nations of China, Russia, and Mongolia meet. Most Buriat live in mud and wood houses although some are still nomads.

Ministry Obstacles

Shamanism has deep roots in Buriat culture. Buddhism and a new religion called Burkanism provide other spiritual obstacles for gospel acceptance.

Outreach Ideas

A few of the Buriat in China have recently become Christians, resulting from Chinese house church efforts originating in a revival in Heilongjiang Province. They took responsibility for evangelizing westward into Inner Mongolia, boldly preaching the gospel and seeing thousands of people come to Christ.

Prayer Focus

Pray for adequate Scriptures and discipleship resources in their language. Pray for Buriat disciples to make more disciples. Pray for a
