

Burusho in Pakistan

The Burusho of Pakistan live in the mountainous northern regions of Pakistan, such as the Hunza Valley. They speak Burushaski and work in agriculture, raising livestock and crops. Marriages take place once a year, usually in December. Divorce is allowed only for men and only on the grounds of adultery. When the father dies, the sons inherit the property. The oldest son usually receives the best land. Life expectancy among the Burusho is only 53 years because of their lack of access to modern medicine. They are solidly Muslim.

Ministry Obstacles

Getting to the Hunza Valley is difficult. This will pose an obstacle for people to take them the gospel.

Outreach Ideas

Portions of the Bible are available in Burushaski, as is the JESUS Film. These tools are used to deliver the gospel to the Burusho of Pakistan.

Prayer Focus

Pray for Christian believers in Pakistan to be Christ-bearers to the Burusho people. Pray for the Lord to intervene in Burusho families, giving
